Our Philosophy

Beginning with a dream in 2005, The Wright Way Farm was founded to share the good things that come out of sustainable, healthy, and cruelty-free living. Located near Beloit and Janesville, we are dedicated to promoting local and sustainable agriculture. All of our produce is grown using organic practices and is certified organic through MOSA.

Our goal is to provide a variety of healthy, delicious, and pesticide-free produce that is grown and delivered locally. We believe in a business model based upon three categories of sustainability practices, environmental, social, and economic. By utilizing environmental sustainability practices, we are farming lightly to leave resources for our grandchildren. By practicing social sustainability, we pay our employees fair, living wages and work with partners to facilitate access to healthy foods in communities where access is limited. To ensure that our farm can continue providing healthy food by remaining in business, we responsibly take care of our economic bottom line.

USDA ORGANIC

What is a CSA?

Community Supported Agriculture (CSA) is a relationship between people and a local family farm. The relationship is based on the premise that farms need communities and that communities need farms. Community members invest in farms in the spring when farm cash flow is lowest. In return, farmers provide food throughout the season to those who invested. It is a symbiotic relationship that helps to maintain access to healthy food by providing economic support to farms when they need it most. Our CSA delivers a box of vegetables, weekly, to many central drop-off locations for eighteen weeks.

Share Details

For one growing season, starting in June and running into October and lasting eighteen weeks, you will receive a weekly box filled with tasty produce that is freshly picked. The container holds either a bushel for a full share, or a 1/2 bushel for a half share of produce. Boxes are usually 1/2 to 3/4 full in the beginning and ending months, and overflowing in the heart of the summer. In addition, we will send you recipes so you can enjoy your fresh vegetables in a variety of ways. These recipes are also on our website. We have an Early Bird Special Price available for those who sign up before February 24th. Members can receive an extra 10% discount on shares for working on the farm during the season. Four hours for a full share and two hours for a half share.

Where do you pick up your weekly shares?

Thursday deliveries will be available at the farm west of Beloit or in Janesville at the resident's on 3409 Amhurst Rd. or 620 E. Holmes St.

When Saturday Farmers Markets are in session we offer the following: Beloit, WI (8 am -1 pm), Kenosha, WI (9 am - 2 pm), Park Ridge, IL (7 am - 1 pm), Morton Grove, IL (8 am - Noon) and Glenview, IL (8 am - Noon).

We are also at Edgebrook Farmers' Market in Rockford, IL Wednesdays (9 am - 1 pm). All times are subject to change.

Fall Storage Share

Another option for members is our Fall Storage Share. This share consists of four to five large deliveries throughout the summer and November of storage items. When you receive these shares, you will be able to can and freeze some items like tomatoes and broccoli, while simply storing other times like potatoes, flour and beans. This will allow you to eat organically grown local produce throughout the year. Items we expect to deliver for storage shares include: black beans, whole wheat flour, cucumbers, winter squash, tomatoes, potatoes, green beans, cabbage, and other vegetables when they become available. These items are only guaranteed in accordance to a good growing season. These items will be delivered in larger quantities and will need to be processed shortly after delivery
